BOBCATSSS is an annual Symposium organised by students. It takes place under the auspices of EUCLID and deals with themes from Library and Information Science. Every year it is organised, managed and filled with content by students from an Eastern and Western European University.

Target groups of BOBCATSSS-Symposiums are Information specialists, students, professors and employees of Library and Information Departments.

It's unique that teams of students plan and realise both the content and the management of the Symposium as a part of their studies. Due to this they profit a lot by border crossing teamwork with other European countries.
